GERMAN ARMISTICE TERMS READY BOLSHEVIKI ASKING AN ARMISTICE ALLIES ATTACK ON 150 MILE FRONT HUNS ARE BEING FORCED INTO TRAP

YANKS MAKE FOUR MILE ADVANCE UNDER STIFF ENEMY RESISTANCE

TAYLOR'S DISPATCH TELL OF BRAVE FEATS PERFORMED BY AMERICAN ENGINEERS ON MEUSE RIVER

OCCUPY LA NEUVILLE AND JAULNAY

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, 2:10 P. M.—Americans gained 3 3-4 miles against heavy resistance in a sudden attack launched this morning on the Meuse. They captured Beaumont-Cesse, and Jaulnay forest and occupied La Neuville. American engineers threw pontoons across the Meuse under heavy shell fire.

General Liggett's first army has extended its front to 30 miles from Ardennes canal eastward to the Meuse then southward along the west bank of the Meuse. Rapid progress is being made along the whole front with the exception of a short strip along the Aisne where the Germans have made a firm hold. The Belgians made a slight advance near Ghent while the French and Americans astride the Ardennes made an advance.

ELECTION RETURNS TONIGHT

The Progress Office will, as usual, get election returns from state and nation this evening but on account of the influenza epidemic we cannot encourage crowds about our bulletins in the windows and while bulletins will be posted from time to time, we must ask that the crowd keep moving. On account of the rush on telephone and telegraph lines we must also request that people do not call often to get the returns.

Finally we request that no one seek admission to The Progress office. We cannot take any chance on the "flu" here. Too many of us are sick already. The front door will be locked. You are very welcome to read our bulletins from the outside but frankly we do not want you inside.

State and national bulletins should begin to arrive by about nine o'clock but it is unlikely that there will be many country returns before ten or eleven o'clock and not enough to give definite results before midnight.

Under unusual and trying difficulties, we will try to give as good service as heretofore. The telephone companies will cooperate with us to their utmost. Be patient when you give the operator a call and by the way—call us by number only. Help them and they will help you.

Our number is 47 on the Bell and 176 on the H. & C.

LT. DAVE FERGUSON IS WOUNDED LEADING HIS COMPANY ATTACK

Base Hospital No. 15,
Oct. 18, 1918

Dear Father, Mother and Robert:

No, I'm not in the hospital corps but just wounded. I am not so bad, just a compound fracture of my left arm. A sniper hit me and he was only ten meters away. I went down ker-flop and didn't get up for a couple hours. If I had of gotten up I don't think I would be writing today. But some friends chased him out and gave me assistance. I had an operation after about a day's riding in an ambulance. Getting along fine now, so will say nothing more of that. It's a little hard to write, or rather hold the paper.

They treat us fine now, good eats and a warm hospital. Also good American nurses.

There are quite a few wounded here. I am in the officers' pavilion as they call it and it's pretty well filled. Just moved in this hospital this morning. Came on a French hospital train from the other hospital nearer the front. Do not expect to be here more than a day, so do not write until I give you a permanent address.

It will take me a month and a half to get well at least and you know that's the second time for that arm. It's below the elborw—just below. I say I m lucky, only I didn't have any horse shoe around my neck. I was company commander when I went into the attack. There were only two 2nd lieutenants in the company. Don't know if the other fellow came out all right or not Will close for this time In fine health, nothing to worry about

Your loving son,
2nd Lt D M FERGUSON,
Co. L, 126 Inf.

CURTIS G. WILSON ANSWERS FINAL SUMMONS YESTERDAY

The old adage that "misfortune never comes singly" has been sadly brought home to the family of C. G. Wilson on Sixth street, East End. For some time past Mr. Wilson had been a sufferer with Bright's disease and spent a month at Clifton Springs sanitarium in the hope of benefiting his heath. However the disease had taken too firm a hold and no relief could be given him, with the result that about ten days ago he was brought back home even in worse condition than when he went away.

On last Wednesday word was received by letter from France of the death in action of Hayes M. Wilson, Mr. Wilson's eldest son, and one of Clearfield's finest young men, who left here with the Boal Machine Gun company shortly after the outbreak of the war.

Yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock the final summons came to Mr. Wilson and he slept peacefully away in the presence of his anxious family. He was never told of the death of his soldier son and the loved ones left behind are solaced somewhat in their double grief in the hope and belief in a happy reunion of father and son in the realms of that glorious haven where pain and sorrow are no more.

Curtin G. Wilson was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Wilson and was born in Bradford township some fifty-three years ago. He followed farming and lumbering in his early life and later moved to Clearfield He was employed as farmer at the County Home farm for a number of years and later secured employment with the New York Central Railroad company He had charge of the freight transfer in the local yards for several years and some two years ago resigned this position to accept the Secretarysip of the local Board of Health, which position he held at the time of his death

Curt Wilson was an industrious, honest upright man and good citizen in the fullest sense of the term. He was faithful to every trust imposed and possessed the unbounded respect and esteem of all who knew him.

He took an active interest in civic affairs and served his ward on council for several years. He was also an active member of the Elk Hose company and was President of the company for a number of years and had much to do with its success. His death is a distinct loss to our community

In his home he was loved and respected as the ideal husband and father, whose every thought was for his home and the comfort of his loved ones. He was a Christian, God-fearing man and a devoted member of the United Brethren church.

He is survived by his sorrowing widow, three daughters and two sons, viz: Mrs. George Sheldon, of Binghamton, N. Y.; Misses Lena and Helen. Charles and Harold, all of Clearfield.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence on Sixth street. Rev. Wissinger, of the U. B. church will officiate and intermest will be made in Hillcrest cemetery.

GOING TO MISS THE RETURNS

Some eighteen or twenty of our sub cubers about the country are going to miss some very important news during the next week The election returns will begin tomorrow and continue for several days and then Old Kaiser Bill is going to go up in smoke in about three week These eighteen or twenty fellows have neglected to use that little red envelope we sent them and the day their subscription expires their names get chopped off the list Not our fault We have to do it so boys hunt up that little red envelope and get them here tomorrow morning early

The Allies are attacking on a front of nearly 150 miles from the Mons canal southeastward to the Meuse.

The Inter-Allied diplomatic council completed its work at Versailles yesterday, it was announced today. They reached a unanimous agreement on the armistice terms to be presented to Germany.

The Bolsheviki government is reported to have officially asked the Allies for a cessation of hostilities in Russia and the opening of peace negotiations.

The fighting on the wetern front is rapidly forcing the German army on the southwestern edge of Ardennes into a trap. The southern exit is practically closed through occupation of th Stenay gap by the Americans. The British and French are shutting the northern gateway in the region of Maudeuze and Hirson At the same time the French are squeezing the German army between the two exits. The British fighting section extends from the Mons canal at Conge southward to the Sombre front on a front of 40 miles.

The French cooperating directly with the new drive are on a 15 mile front from the Sombre southward to the Oise at Guise The French first army beginning a new attack this morning on a 0 mile front on the Oise southeast of the Aisne in the region o Chateau-Portien. General Gouraud's Franco-American army is operating on the Aisne from the right flank. The first army is operating eastward on the left flank of the American first army where they join on the Ardennes canal on a front of about 2 miles.

GENEVA, Nov. 5.—The populace of Vienna was delerious with joy at the news of the signing of the armistice, according to advices received here today. The streets were thronged with men and women who cried and embraced one another.

BOTH OLD PARTIES CLAIMING VICTORY

Washington, Nov. 5—Reports from political headquarters throughout the country showed today that American politicians turned out early today in one of the most spirited elections of the nation's history. Both Democrat and Republicans today were confident of victory.

From Democratic national headquarters it was staetd that a Democratic majority in the Senate is certain. They declare that the party will gain a Senator each in Rhode Island and Nebraska and if they lose one each in Illinois and Kansas where the fight is hottest "South Dakota and Massachusetts wil return a Democrat each." The Democrats will gain a majority of 2 in the senate under these circumstances.

Republican headquarters state that reports indicate the Republicans will elect 50 senators including one each from Illinois, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Kansas and Nebraska—already claimed by the Democrats—giving the Republicans a gain of 6 or 7 and a majority of 2 in the Senate.

Both headquarters say the House out come is uncertain. The Democratic national committee declare that their party will gain from 15 to 20 in the lower branch Republican headquarters declare the Republicans will have at last 230 in the House a gain of 20

CALL ISSUED FOR MEN TO GO TO CAMP

The local exemption board for district No. 2 at DuBois has receive two new calls for men to be sent to Camp eadeM. The men will go in two different calls, during the five day operiod beginning Noember 11th and total 25 men. The entertainment orders have not yet been received and until they are the men will not receive notifications. The men for these calls will be chosen from thosce who were notified to report for entrainment last month, but whose call was laetr cancelled owing to the influenza epidemic

The men chosen for these calls will all be taken from the first registration, with the exception of possibly a few volunteers. Defoerred agricultural claims have been recalled and many men who hav been laboring on th farms all summer will probably be chosen in this call.

EMPEROR KARL'S CHILDREN ARE MISSING

Amsterdam, Nov.—Court circles in Viennta are uneasy over the whereabouts of the Emperor Karl's five young children according to advices here today The children were left behind at Godolla palace following the departure of Karl last week and there has been no news of them since The castle was set affre after Karl fled It was reported the children were seen going toward Vienna in an automobile and it is feared that revolutionists operating on the highways kidnapped them.

BRIEF SESSION OF BOROUGH COUNCIL

The borough council held a brief session in the council chamber last evening. President Pletcher was in the chair and the following members were present: Messrs Gallaher, Leitzinger, Graham, Walthers, Williams, McCloskey and Hopfer. Burgess Chase was also present.

Burgess Chase reported but eight arrests during October and the collection of $50 in fines for the month.

Street Commissioner Graham reported progress on the fall clean up by the street crew and showed that he was getting the streets in good shape for the winter.

Borough Engineer Hess reported regarding the laying of concrete curb and gutter along the Charles T Kurtz property on West Front street and again suggested to council that property owners along all the unpaved streets be induced to do likewise as it would mean a great improvement to the town both in appearance and in a sanitary way.

U. S. G. Way was present and again complained of storm water backing into his cellar on Locust street from the Fourth street sewer and asked council for relief While council is not obliged to provide or care for cellar drainage the matter was again referred to the sewer committee for report at next meeting

Mr Gallaher, of the Finance committee, recommended that $4 000 worth of the 1903 issue of borough improvement bonds be redeemed The recommendation was adopted and bonds ordered redeemed.

There being no further business council adjourned to meet Monday evening, November 18th

It is as far around the coast of America as it is around the world.

EXCELLENT WEATHER BRINGS OUT BIGGER VOTE THAN EXPECTED

The election in Clearfield today was a very quiet one there being an entire absence of pulling and hauling about the polling places.

The weather was ideal and the voters took advantage of that condition to coe out early. At 1:30 o'clock theer was a total of 550 votes polled in the four wards.

The vote was divided as follows:

First ward	143
Second ward	156
Third ward	126
Fourth ward	125

The principal contest was on Congress of course with the Repeublicans lining up straight behind Evan J. Jones, their party candidate, despite the appeal of the President for assistance in making this country safe for the Democratic party.

The Democrats were cutting their ticket pretty generally on Governor. the dry element refusing to stand for Bonnawell and Booze.

The fine weather is having its effect in the country districts many of which report a much heavier vote than was at first expected although the absence of so many men in the war will cut the total away below normal The influenza epidemic is also interfering with the turn out in some of the districts.

Our readers may confidently expect to hear of the election of the entire county nita district tickets in Wednesday evening's Progress Watch for it.

WE SHOULD STILL DO OUR UTMOST TO GUARD AGAINST INFLUENZA

"The following precedures should be forced upon everybody in the country; but especially the mothers of children. They are vital at this time."

So writes Dr. S. McC. Hamill, Chief of Child Hygiene Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., to the Child Welfare Committee of Clearfield County. Attention to them may save lives in Clearfield County homes:

1. There must be an abundance of fresh air entering their homes at all times, and that to protect against the lower temperature so that this will not chill them. Woolen stocking must be worn by the children if necessary, coats and hats.

2. Everybody should spend as much time as possible in the open air in the sunlight, especially children, who can do this most of the day.

3. All crowds, especially indoor crowds should be avoided.

4. All people who cough or sneeze should be avoided.

5. If members of the household develop colds, they should be separated at once from the other members of the family and kept from them until their colds are entirely cured.

6. Every member of the family should have his own drinking cup and every member his own towel.

7. All children should be dressed according to the temperature of the day, not according to the season of the year.

8. All persons, especially children, should avoid being completely tired out from overplay or too little sleep; it reduces their resistance.

9. All persons should sleep with the windows wide open; fresh air is as important by night as by day.

10. Everyone should cover the mouth and nose when sneezing or coughing. This is most important because the germs are coughed out into the air and in that way get to the other members of the family.

11. Children with the slightest evidence of cold should not be permitted to go to school or to play with others.

12. The moment anyone becomes sick or has the slightest evidence of a cold, it should be remembered that possibly a very serious disease is beginning and the patient must be immediately put to bed and a physician summoned as soon as possible.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY BOY IS AWARDED CROIX DE GUERRE

Sergeant Ernest Youngberg, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Youngberg, of Grassflat, is home on several days' furlough. Mr. Youngberg was drafted into the service in June and sent to Camp Lee, Va. After a training of six weeks he was transferred to the Quarter Master's Corps, on board a transport with the rank of Sergeant. He has made several overseas trips, and on the 5th of Oct. he was awarded the French War Cross, the Croix de Guerre, by General La Comte. This medal was awarded for signal gallantry shown by him when he, together with eleven others, volunteered to advance ammunition and supplies to the front trenches by daylight, under heavy fire. Ammunition is usually sent forward under cover of darkness. During the advance he was wounded in the shoulder by bursting shrapnel. His wound was attended to immediately at the dressing station, and although it is yet very painful, is rapidly healing. Sgt. Youngberg has many interesting stories to relate about his experiences. During his return trip home, the transport was followed by a submarine for two days.

In 1712 the inundation of Petrograd as the result of an overflow of the Neva was so severe that Peter the Great nearly lost his life. Thousands of people died in the course of it and the whole city was nearly destroyed.

FLU SITUATION IS IMPROVING NOW

There was not much new development in the local influenza situation yesterday and it begins to look now as though the disease had about run its course in Clearfield, although it is unreasonable to suppose there will not be an occasional new case from time to time. This morning at 10 o'clock there were 39 cases at the upper emergency hospital and 23 at the High school.

There are ten pneumonia patients at the upper hospital and about twenty others about the town, at the High school and private homes.

There were no deaths during the past twenty-four hours.

There was but one death at DuBois yesterday.

O'SHANTER BOY KILLED IN ACTION

John Black, of O'Shanter, received a telegram from the war department which conveyed the sad intelligence that his son Sergeant Robert T. Black had been killed in action on September 26th last.

The Hague, Nov. 5—Count Karolyi has resigned the presidence yof the Hungarian National council according to information received here today. Joan Hoch will succeed Karolyi.

MICE THE TURNING FACTOR IN LIFE OF OLD TIME CURWENSVILLE DOCTOR

H. B. Thompson who has lived in Curwensville a little longer than 77 years, tells the writer of a rather funny incident that occurred when he was a little chap running bare footed and waering the then regulation nankeen trousers. The transaction made such an impression on his young mind and the way it came about, that he never has forgotten it. At that time there was an old physician practising medicine in Curwensville by the name of Iddings. While he was considered to be an excellent practitioner in those early days, when most medicines were home stilled from weeds, herbs, roots, etc., gathered in the woods in the fall, excepting calomel, rheubarb and a few others, the old doctor was a man of remarkable characteristics, one of the most prominent being his unbelief in a Supreme Being and alleging that the Bible was nothing more than a story book. The doctor was well known to the setters for miles around, as was also the views he held on religious matters. He occupied a little building which stood on ground now occupied by T. & R. K. Way as a store. He had a few cronies who held to the same views as himself, who gatherd in the apothecary during winter evenings to argue and dispute over the theories as they understood them. The doctor had an assistant who was "learning the doctor's trade" as he proudly declared. When the doctor was summoned out at night he invariably took his apprentice along as a sort of a body guard.

One of Idding's greatest hobbies on Bible readings was that he alleged that when death overtook a human being that was the end, the spirit did not go to heaven or hell, but the body could just as well be disposed of same as an animal for that was the end. Neither did he believe that there was ever anything like a ghost. Now then, among other bones, etc., possessed by Dr. Iddings, was a human skull, which usually was kept on the top shelf. One night the doctor and his help was called out to see a patient about midnight. Arriving at the home of the ill one, the doctor discovered that he had forgotten something that was necessary for the relief of the one who was ill. Giving the young fellow the necessary directions as to what was wanted and where to find it in the office, the old doctor settled himself back comfortably in an easy chair, took his pipe out of his pocket lit it and started in to argue some of his pet theories with the lady of the house, who was a devout church member. The student came down to the apothecary unlocked the door, struck a match and lit a candle (there being no such a thing as a lamp or other convenient artificial light at that time) and proceeded to look around for the articles wanted. His glance chanced to rest on the shelf upon which the human skull had been placed. Was it moving, or was it his imagination. He made a closer inspection and saw the thing actually wriggling about. That was enough for him and letting out a yell and not stopping to snuff his light or lock the door after him, he hotfooted it back to the home where his tutor awaited him in not the best of humor. The young man had lost his hat, his hair was standing cross-wise and his countenance the hue of the dead. He could not articulate plainly for some minutes and when he was able to say anything his first words were "ghosts in the store." Finally he was able to tell what he had seen, and possibly considerable more from his imagine.

The old doctor was mad all the way through and his anger was akin to a bull when one shakes a red rag before it. He stamped his foot and called his student a d——n unmitigated phool (that's the way they spell the world those days), and demanded that he go back right away and bring the medicine. The student absolutely refused to do so unless the doctor went along. After considerable loud talk and much profanity on the part of the physician, he consented to return with his student and "throw the ghost out of the shop into the gutter."

Back they went and upon arriving found the door open and the candle still burning just as the young man had left it, when he suddenly made up his mind that "a living coward was of more use in the world than a dead hero." The young chap was not going to put his life in jeopardy the second time, hence stood outside the door. The doctor entered the room, not too briskly however, and demanded in a loud voice to be shown his ghostship, and for it to come forth and be slain. The medical student never uttered a word but silently pointed his finger upward and toward the skull The old practioneer, who had seen many queer things in his day, turned his eyes in the direction of the pointing hand. He saw just what his man saw on hour before—the skull and it was moving backward and forward, making but very little noise. He looked at it once, twice and thrice and that was enough for him. He hastily snuffed the candle and locking the store door the twain returned to the sick chamber and never did they leave there until the next morning.

The news spread rapidly that Doc Iddings apothecary was haunted and that he and his student had seen his ghostship entertaining itself on one of the top shelves by dancing and performing other antics after midnight the night before. The doctor was non-committal when asked about the affair, but not so with his student, for every time he repeated what he saw he enlarged upon the story, until for several days half the town's populace actually believed that the store was inhabited by goblins and some that had risen from the dead and had returned to earth to haunt the old physician for his blasphemy and unbelief in the Holy writ. Thus matters ran along for a week or more and the doctor's followers had dwindled down to a party of two or three of the bravest. Another thing about the store was quite noticeable, and that was that the old physician and his student companion never opened the apothecary after candle-light "not because they were afraid to stay in the building, but business did not warrant the expense of burning candles."

Finally an old, long-haired hunky mountaineer wandered into the store and wanted to purchase a quart of "snake medicine" as the grinders in his barrel were broken and he could not make any of his own until it was fixed. There were quite a few men, including Dr. Iddings, in the store at the time and while he was making up the "snake juice" for his customer whom he knew quite well, he regaled the old timer with an account of seeing the ghost and the haunted store. The old chap listened attentively until the clerk had finished his narrative, remarked: "I hev lived in these ere mountains nigh to fifty year, and I'll be dinged if I ever saw a ghost yit, and I've traveled these hills some too." The clerk showed him the skull and all about the way it acted and added that was where the spirit came out when it made its appearance. The old chap scrutinized the skull carefully an asked if he might take it down and see "the tarnal habitation of that ar ghost." He was given the desired permission. He walked over behind the counter and lifted it up, when behold more than a dozen mice ran out of it and departed for a new hiding place.

The mystery of the ghost and the haunted apothecary was solved. Mice had chosen the skull for a nest and the mouse family had become so large that there was not room for all, and in fussing for bed room space the animals with their fussing caused the skull, which was very light, to move about and that is what old Dr. Iddings and his apprentice saw on the first night his ghostship made his appearance.

This ghost incident changed the whole course of the old doctor's life. His language toned down considerably, his conversation lost its gruffness, he never used profane language thereafter, and he never argued or profaned the scriptures and finally got to be a regular church attendant and lived the balance of his life in this comunity, respected by all. Thus it will be seen that even the smallest and most detestable animals are brought into this world to perform some some good mission or other.

"The Paper That Goes Home and Stays"

CLEARFIELD, PA., November 5, 1918

To Our Patrons,

Clearfield and Vicinity.

Gentlemen:

Owing to the labor shortage we found it necessary to entirely discontinue our line of job printing some three months ago and since that time have refused practically all business because of our inability to produce good work and on required time.

We now have our job printing department organized and ask that we be favored with your orders.

We are prepared to take on all kinds of printing except ruled work of any description. In the interest of paper conservation we will permit no bills or placards larger than 14 inches by 14 inches.

A good stock of that old reliable Hammermill Bond for letter heads has just been received.

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS.

TWO DEATHS IN POOLE FAMILY

Isaac Poole received a telegram this morning announcing the sad fact that his daughter Alice had died at the home of her sister Mrs. Daniel Whatmouth in Akron, Ohio, at 11:30 o'clock last night of pneumonia following an attack of influenza.

The deceased was a sister of James Poole, who died at 5 o'clock yesterday morning at his home on Mill Road as the result of an attack of influenza.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Through the kindness of the Loyal Order of Moose in tendering a part of their building as an emergency hospital, the board of health has accepted the same and a large room is being fitted up for that purpose. Beds have been contributed and necessary covering to equip them This is not done because there is an increase of the epidemic in Curwensville, but to take care of those who are unable to take charge of themselves and cannot procure the necessary help. The hospital has been placed in charge of Miss Young, a professional nurse, and she will be assisted in the work by others who have had considerable experience in the nursing line. All the physicians will take part in ministration of all those who will occupy beds in this emergency hospital and no distinction will be shown to any particular cases, only so far as the illness of the patient demands. Curwensville took care of this epidemic in time and thirty cases is the most the town has had at any one time. No deaths have occurred from the disease and from a report of a physician at the writer's home yesterday afternoon the disease seems to be abating, and as he was a member of the board of halth no new cases had been reported to him for several days. Curwensville people are certainly in sympathy with sister towns who are struggling desperately to stamp out the ravages of the disease and may their efforts be successful.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. John Murray on Ridge avenue is quite ill at his home suffering from an attack of the influenza.

A resolution has been passed by the Business Men's association to close all stores at 6 o'clock, Saturday evening included, until after the abatement of the epidemic passing through this county.

A plan for the proper observance of the Sabbath day and keeping in touch with the Sunday school lessons, each Christian family will be asked to hold home services for an hour or two in their omes,h the time to be given to Bible study and review of the school lesson. The plan is a good one and each Christian family should adopt it at once and carry it out to the fullest extent.

Miss Lottie Bixler was confined to her home by illness several days this week.

Dean Rankin, of Purchase Line, drove in to Clearfield Monday bringing with him a young boy to the hospital where he will undergo an operation. A few weeks ago he brought in a young lady who was operated on and he expected to take her back with him, but she had not recovered sufficiently to make the trip. He reported that the flu had invaded that country quite severely and a great many deaths had occurred.

Domero Tatima is ill at his home suffering from fever and the influenza but his case at the present time is not considered dangerous, any more so than the rest of those suffering from the same complaint.

It was reported yesterday that the P. H. & L. finishing tannery had received a sufficient number of orders to keep the plant operating with nearly a full crew from now until spring If correct the news is certainly cheering the almost two hundred men employed there.

Today is election day. Those who claim to be on the inside say that the entire Republican ticket will win out in this borough as well as in the western precinct of Pike township. As regards the $12,000 bond issue, with which to purchase new fire apparatus there seems to be considerable doubt as to its being carried through successfully. A number of taxpayers seem to be of the opinion that so large amount of money for fire apparatus is not necessary at this time, and think that the present time was not opportune in presenting it before the people at this time. Some new fire fighting apparatus is badly needed there is no dispute and the claim is put forth that what is actually needed could be purchased for a considerable less sum than $12,000. Be that as it may it is up to the voters today to decide. We being neutral on the question of the bond issue, will be satisfied which way it is decided.

Ashley Bloom has been promoted to the superintendency of the Lumber City brick works since Charles Maurey receased. At the present time Mr. Bloom is a resident of Curwensville but will probably move to Lumber City later on.

Mrs. Arthur E. Temple of this place has received word that her husband has arrived safely overseas. Mr. Temple belongs to Uncle Sam's marines and is serving his second enlistment.

Miss Mary Wright of this place has returned to her duties at the Maple avenue hospital in DuBois after a few day's visit with her parents.

Rev. Connely is assisting Fred Robison with a rush of job printing

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harley, of Pine street, are adding to the convenience of their home by having a telephone put in.

The emergency hospital was opened yesterday afternoon. Five persons from the flat, who were inflicted more seriously with the influenza, were removed thereto, where they will be able to receive better attention than they have been receiving. All the persons moved were of foreign population.

Herbert Shearer, formerly employed at the brick plant, has gone to Eddystone, Pa., where he has secured employment in one of the munition plants located at that place.

Isaac Black, who has been home for a week from his Houtzdale drilling operations returneed yesterday to resume work on his drilling contracts.

Dr. G. G. Jenkins had charge of the emergency hospital yesterday.

Richard Addin who was brought to the home of his father in law some weeks ago suffering from something akin to paralysis, and who was in a very serious condition, is reported as gaining in health and strength slowly and some hope is now entertained by his relatives that he may eventually recover sufficiently to be able to walk about soon.

Dr. G. C. Jenkins with an assistant, inoculated 250 persons at the Leib dispensary, most of those receiving the serum for the third time. Strange as it may seem, not a single person in this town who was inoculated has been afflicted with the disease, proving undoubtedly that there must be some virtue in the remedy.

There is a greater demand for The Progress in this town than ever before Those who are not subscribers either borrow from their neighbor or buy from the street boy. No wonder. The paper not only gives authentic late war news, but keeps its readers in close touch with county conditions of the devastating epidemic, Spanish influenza. Not only are some persons so anxious to read the war news they do not wait for neighbor John to read his paper first, but walk boldly onto his porch, take the paper home, read it through and then return it from when he got it. The Progress is not so high in price, but what it is within easy reach of all who are interested in the present progress of the war, and other interesting news items the paper contains daily gathered at considerable expense from all over the county as well as court house news.

ANOTHER HEROIC NURSE SUCCUMBS

A message received here from Altoona brought the sad news that Mrs. Elizabeth Rose, of Houtzdale, well known in Clearfield, died in that city at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon of pneumonia following an attack of influenza.

Deceased, aged about 28 years was one of the class who was graduated in nures training on November 22, 1917, from the Cottage State hospital, Philipburg, and at the opening of the emergency hospital in Clearfield, along with Mrs. R. K. Clees, who died October 29th gladly gave her services to aid in caring for the sick.

Mrs. Rose was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker, of Houtzdale, and following the death of her husband took up nursing as her life work. Of a gentle, sympathetic disposition she made the ideal nurse and won the hearts of all with whom she came in contact while ministering to the sick and afflicted.

When the influenza epidemic broke out in Clearfield and the local board of health decided to open an emergency hospital in the Children's Home, Mrs. Rose volunteered her services and was the first assistant given Mrs. R. K. Clees when the big institution was opened. Like her martyred friend and co-worker, Mrs. Rose gave every ounce of her energy to the alleviation of the suffering at hand and through overwork easily became prey for the disease.

In the midst of her labors and just when the disease she had been fighting for others began to fasten itself upon her system she received the word that her child was sick and needed her care at its home in Altoona. She hurried to the bedside of the little one on Sunday, October 27, and on Monday was so ill that she was put to bed.

The disease ran its usua course, the overworked body could not withstand its ravages and the end came Saturday afternoon last when her heroic soul left its earthly prison to appear before the Great Physician to receive the reward for one who gave her all in His name and that other sufferers might get well.

The remains were taken to the home of her parents in Houtzdale and will be interned from there.

Cape May, where many American soldiers from the front are being sent to recuperate, is the oldest resort along the New Jersey coast. Passing from a prosperous whaling village, founded in 1699, it became a fishing village during the 18th century, and then the greatest resort in America during the middle of the 19th century.

Why Putter With Corns? Use "Gets-It."

Common Sense, Simple, Never fails

You can keep out your corns and suffer, or you can lift off your corns and smile The joy-peelin' way is the "Gets-It" way. It is the only happy, painless way in the world Two drops of Gets-It on any corn or callus dries at once The corn finally loosens off from the toe, so that you can peel it off with your fingers or one piece painlessly, like peeling a banana "Great stuff wish I'd done thuet before" There's only one corn-peeler "Gets-It" Toes wrapped up big with tape and bandages, toes smurming from irritating salves, is all a barbarity Toes wounded by razors and knives, that's butchery, ridculous unnecessary, dangerous Use Gets-It the liberty way simple painless, always sure Take no chances, Get Gets-It Don't be insulted by imitations See that you get "Gets-It" "Gets-It" the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store Mfg'd by Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill

OBITUARY

WM. E. JOHNSON

William E. Johnson, a former Philipsburg boy, died at his home in Lima, Ohiofi October 12, from pneumonia, following a week's sickness of Spanish influenza. He was born and raised in Centre county, having spent his boyhood days in Philipsburg. The Lima Star says of him:

"W. E. Johnson, prominent real estate man, and enthusiastic worker in every civic or patriotic endeavor of the city, died at his home, 449 Albert street, as the result of an attack of Spanish influenza.

"Mr. Johnston was connected with the Elmar D. Webb Company, and was head of the central office where he had charge of some of the heaviest deal until recently, when he was put at the head of an insurance organizing department, and in which capacity he was making a wonderful record. He was also secretary-treasurer of the Lima Investment Co., an organization of South Side business men, who have dealt extensively the past year in buying, repairing and building residence property in South Lima.

"He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Colubus and the Elks.

"He is survived by his wife, Violet Beacon Johnston, one son Clair, and one dauhgter, Lenore. Also his father John C. Johnston of Grampian, Pa., five brothers, John P., of Clearfield; Patrick H, of Grampian, and three in the service of their country—Joseph who is in France, James at Camp Jackson, S. C., and George, at Camp Syracuse, N. Y. Also four sisters, Mrs. Fred George, Lima, Ohio: Mrs. James McDermott and Mrs. George Shields Curwensville, Pa., and Mrs. Cal Newcomer, Latrobe, Pa."

CHAUNCEY MARAN NORRIS

Chauncey Maran Norris, son of Wade A. and Clara (Tobias) Norris, died at his home near New Millport on November 1st, 1918. He was born December 27, 1896.

Chauncey spent his entire life in and around the New Millport vicinity. He taught one term of school at Mt. Sinai, Girard township, and was certificated to teach the next year, 1917-18 but on being able to do better financially in the coal business, he did not teach again.

He was inducted into service from the jurisdiction of Houtzdale, District No. 3, on the 5th of September 1918, and was discharged from Camp Greenleaf, Ga., September 17, 1918, on account of defective vision. After being at home a few weeks he was employed at Boardman, from which place he was brought home sick with Spanish influenza, October 22nd, which subsequently developed pneumonia and death resulted. His remains were laid away in the New Millport cemetery on Sunday, the 4th of November, 1918, Rev. Harry Jarrett, a personal friend of his, conducting the last rites. One brother, Clair, who is now in France survives with three sisters, Marie, teacher of the Glenn school, Erma and Delta. Marie and Delta are at this writing confined to their home with the dreaded "flu".

The funeral was strictly private. An opportunity was given at the grave for the many friends to view the remains. A great burden rests upon the home, and many there are who would gladly assist in nursing, if it were not for carrying the germs into their own home. Mr. Norris, his wife and daughter Erma are much worn, but advise everybody to stay away and that they will do all they can, and feel they can handle the situation, unless the disease catches them. All have been innoculated and it is hoped and prayed that health will soon be restored to their home. Everybody extnds sympathy to the father, mother, sisters and Clair, in France, in these hours of death and sickness.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

GLEANINGS FROM SOLDIER'S LETTERS

Cloyd W. Hadden in a letter to his mother in Curwensville, written from a base hospital in France, says that he is recovering nicely from wounds received in action.

He is in base hospital No.43 and had the peasure of receiving care and treatment from two Clearfield nurses whom he knew at home. One of the nurses was Miss Ella Brown, daughter of Lewis Brown, of the Third Ward. The other he describes as having visited the Watts' at Curwensville.

He has been an inmate of the hospital since September 27th but says he only has a small flesh wound on his left arm and small one on his right wrist. A bullet also passed through his tin hat but fortunately missed his head, although, as he says, it was a little too close for comfort.

The Heinie's won't stand for the Yanks to get near them and we have great fun making them run. Sometimes they go so fast we can hardly keep up, and then our mess can't keep up to us. Once we didn't see the chow outfit for more than three days. We didn't let a little thing like that bother us and ust devoted our extra time to chasing the hun all the harder.

The worst stuff I have tackled over here was some dutch bread that they had left behind in a town we took. It was hard as a brick and looked just like a brick, only it was black and looked as though made out of charcoal instead of flour.

We took dugouts containing kitchens with sauer kraut, coffee, etc., but the stuff didn't taste right to me. They leave many funny things behind. I have some German money and did have some other junk for souvenirs but lost it.

He says he hopes to be home for Christmas dinner and asks that turkey be provided for same.

He pays a fine tribute to the Red Cross for the way they treat the boys and minds up by saying he is enjoying life to the limit now after six months at the front over there.

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL GETS FIFTEEN YEARS

MOLLIE STIMER

Federal Judge Henry D. Clayton, who hails from Eufaula, Ala., sentenced this Russian eighteen-year-old girl, Mollie Stimer, to fifteen years in prison on charge of being a Bolshevik, an anarchist and a general radical acting in violation of the Espionage Act, after her trial in New York City.

A RAW, SORE THROAT

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole.

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just rub it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. UNCLE SAM STILL NEEDS NURSES

An erroneous impression has gone out that no more nurses are needed in military hospitals. It must be corrected or Uncle Sam's military forces will suffer.

The Pennsylvania council of national defence has been authorized to state that more than 10,000 additional nurses will be needed for the army nurse corps within the next two months. Not only that, but 25,000 will be needed by June 1, 1919, regardless of the military situation abroad. Nurses are needed for our tremendous armies to take care of the sickness and casualties that are inseparable from military service on a large scale, whether there is active fighting or not.

The various agencies which are encouraging the recruiting of women for nursing are urged by the government not to relax their efforts.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN PITTSBURGH

William B. Kelley, son of the late James H. Kelley, Esq., died at his home on Squirrel Hill, Pittsburgh, this morning at 5 o'clock of pneumonia following an attack of influenza. He was taken sick on Wednesday of last week.

He was 41 years of age and is survived by his wife, nee Aggie Shaw, and a son and daughter.

Looking Ahead to Christmas, Women Are Buying Handkerchiefs Liberally

It is nothing unusual to hear a woman at our handkerchief counter say that the gift she is going to give to practically everyone on her list is HANDKERCHIEFS. She says she does want to give a slight remembrance to her family and friends; yet it is war-times and the cost must be watched carefully. And handkerchiefs in her opinion "fit the bill" best.

Priced from 5c to 75c each.

Slipover Sweaters $6.50

A remarkably effective model, has deep purling, comes slightly below the waistline. Has close sleeves and a very pretty collar and pompom. Such a sweater solves the problem of what to wear when out for a short walk evenings.

GERMAN ARMISTICE TERMS READY BOLSHEVIKI ASKING AN ARMISTICE ALLIES ATTACK ON 150 MILE FRONT HUNS ARE BEING FORCED INTO TRAP

YANKS MAKE FOUR MILE ADVANCE UNDER STIFF ENEMY RESISTANCE

TAYLOR'S DISPATCH TELL OF BRAVE FEATS PERFORMED BY AMERICAN ENGINEERS ON MEUSE RIVER

OCCUPY LA NEUVILLE AND JAULNAY

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, 2:10 P. M.—Americans gained 3 3-4 miles against heavy resistance in a sudden attack launched this morning on the Meuse. They captured Beaumont-Cesse, and Jaulnay forest and occupied La Neuville. American engineers threw pontoons across the Meuse under heavy shell fire.

General Liggett's first army has extended its front to 30 miles from Ardennes canal eastward to the Meuse then southward along the west bank of the Meuse. Rapid progress is being made along the whole front with the exception of a short strip along the Aisne where the Germans have made a firm hold. The Belgians made a slight advance near Ghent while the French and Americans astride the Ardennes made an advance.

ELECTION RETURNS TONIGHT

The Progress Office will, as usual, get election returns from state and nation this evening but on account of the influenza epidemic we cannot encourage crowds about our bulletins in the windows and while bulletins will be posted from time to time, we must ask that the crowd keep moving. On account of the rush on telephone and telegraph lines we must also request that people do not call often to get the returns.

Finally we request that no one seek admission to The Progress office. We cannot take any chance on the "flu" here. Too many of us are sick already. The front door will be locked. You are very welcome to read our bulletins from the outside but frankly we do not want you inside.

State and national bulletins should begin to arrive by about nine o'clock but it is unlikely that there will be many country returns before ten or eleven o'clock and not enough to give definite results before midnight.

Under unusual and trying difficulties, we will try to give as good service as heretofore. The telephone companies will cooperate with us to their utmost. Be patient when you give the operator a call and by the way—call us by number only. Help them and they will help you.

Our number is 47 on the Bell and 176 on the H. & C.

LT. DAVE FERGUSON IS WOUNDED LEADING HIS COMPANY ATTACK

Base Hospital No. 15,
Oct. 18, 1918

Dear Father, Mother and Robert:

No, I'm not in the hospital corps but just wounded. I am not so bad, just a compound fracture of my left arm. A sniper hit me and he was only ten meters away. I went down ker-flop and didn't get up for a couple hours. If I had of gotten up I don't think I would be writing today. But some friends chased him out and gave me assistance. I had an operation after about a day's riding in an ambulance. Getting along fine now, so will say nothing more of that. It's a little hard to write, or rather hold the paper.

They treat us fine now, good eats and a warm hospital. Also good American nurses.

There are quite a few wounded here. I am in the officers' pavilion as they call it and it's pretty well filled. Just moved in this hospital this morning. Came on a French hospital train from the other hospital nearer the front. Do not expect to be here more than a day, so do not write until I give you a permanent address.

It will take me a month and a half to get well at least and you know that's the second time for that arm. It's below the elborw—just below. I say I m lucky, only I didn't have any horse shoe around my neck. I was company commander when I went into the attack. There were only two 2nd lieutenants in the company. Don't know if the other fellow came out all right or not Will close for this time In fine health, nothing to worry about

Your loving son,
2nd Lt D M FERGUSON,

CURTIS G. WILSON ANSWERS FINAL SUMMONS YESTERDAY

The old adage that "misfortune never comes singly" has been sadly brought home to the family of C. G. Wilson on Sixth street, East End. For some time past Mr. Wilson had been a sufferer with Bright's disease and spent a month at Clifton Springs sanitarium in the hope of benefiting his heath. However the disease had taken too firm a hold and no relief could be given him, with the result that about ten days ago he was brought back home even in worse condition than when he went away.

On last Wednesday word was received by letter from France of the death in action of Hayes M. Wilson, Mr. Wilson's eldest son, and one of Clearfield's finest young men, who left here with the Boal Machine Gun company shortly after the outbreak of the war.

Yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock the final summons came to Mr. Wilson and he slept peacefully away in the presence of his anxious family. He was never told of the death of his soldier son and the loved ones left behind are solaced somewhat in their double grief in the hope and belief in a happy reunion of father and son in the realms of that glorious haven where pain and sorrow are no more.

Curtin G. Wilson was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Wilson and was born in Bradford township some fifty-three years ago. He followed farming and lumbering in his early life and later moved to Clearfield He was employed as farmer at the County Home farm for a number of years and later secured employment with the New York Central Railroad company He had charge of the freight transfer in the local yards for several years and some two years ago resigned this position to accept the Secretarysip of the local Board of Health, which position he held at the time of his death

Curt Wilson was an industrious, honest upright man and good citizen in the fullest sense of the term. He was faithful to every trust imposed and possessed the unbounded respect and esteem of all who knew him.

He took an active interest in civic affairs and served his ward on council for several years. He was also an active member of the Elk Hose company and was President of the company for a number of years and had much to do with its success. His death is a distinct loss to our community

In his home he was loved and respected as the ideal husband and father, whose every thought was for his home and the comfort of his loved ones. He was a Christian, God-fearing man and a devoted member of the United Brethren church.

He is survived by his sorrowing widow, three daughters and two sons, viz: Mrs. George Sheldon, of Binghamton, N. Y.; Misses Lena and Helen. Charles and Harold, all of Clearfield.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence on Sixth street. Rev. Wissinger, of the U. B. church will officiate and intermest will be made in Hillcrest cemetery.

GOING TO MISS THE RETURNS

Some eighteen or twenty of our subscribers about the country are going to miss some very important news during the next week The election returns will begin tomorrow and continue for several days and then Old Kaiser Bill is going to go up in smoke in about three week These eighteen or twenty fellows have neglected to use that little red envelope we sent them and the day their subscription expires their names get chopped off the list Not our fault We have to do it so boys hunt up that little red envelope and get them here tomorrow morning early

The Allies are attacking on a front of nearly 150 miles from the Mons canal southeastward to the Meuse.

The Inter-Allied diplomatic council completed its work at Versailles yesterday, it was announced today. They reached a unanimous agreement on the armistice terms to be presented to Germany.

The Bolsheviki government is reported to have officially asked the Allies for a cessation of hostilities in Russia and the opening of peace negotiations.

The fighting on the wetern front is rapidly forcing the German army on the southwestern edge of Ardennes into a trap. The southern exit is practically closed through occupation of the Stenay gap by the Americans. The British and French are shutting the northern gateway in the region of Maudeuze and Hirson At the same time the French are squeezing the German army between the two exits. The British fighting section extends from the Mons canal at Conge southward to the Sombre front on a front of 40 miles.

The French cooperating directly with the new drive are on a 15 mile front from the Sombre southward to the Oise at Guise The French first army beginning a new attack this morning on a 0 mile front on the Oise southeast of the Aisne in the region of Chateau-Portien. General Gouraud's Franco-American army is operating on the Aisne from the right flank. The first army is operating eastward on the left flank of the American first army where they join on the Ardennes canal on a front of about 2. miles.

BOTH OLD PARTIES CLAIMING VICTORY

Washington, Nov. 5—Reports from political headquarters throughout the country showed today that American politicians turned out early today in one of the most spirited elections of the nation's history. Both Democrat and Republicans today were confident of victory.

From Democratic national headquarters it was staetd that a Democratic majority in the Senate is certain. They declare that the party will gain a Senator each in Rhode Island and Nebraska and if they lose one each in Illinois and Kansas where the fight is hottest "South Dakota and Massachusetts wil return a Democrat each." The Democrats will gain a majority of 2 in the senate under these circumstances.

Republican headquarters state that reports indicate the Republicans will elect 50 senators including one each from Illinois, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Kansas and Nebraska—already claimed by the Democrats—giving the Republicans a gain of 6 or 7 and a majority of 2 in the Senate.

Both headquarters say the House out come is uncertain. The Democratic national committee declare that their party will gain from 15 to 20 in the lower branch Republican headquarters declare the Republicans will have at last 230 in the House a gain of 20

CALL ISSUED FOR MEN TO GO TO CAMP

The local exemption board for district No. 2 at DuBois has receive two new calls for men to be sent to Camp eadeM. The men will go in two different calls, during the five day operiod beginning Noember 11th and total 25 men. The entertainment orders have not yet been received and until they are the men will not receive notifications. The men for these calls will be chosen from thosee who were notified to report for entrainment last month, but whose call was laetr cancelled owing to the influenza epidemic

The men chosen for these calls will all be taken from the first registration, with the exception of possibly a few volunteers. Defeerred agricultural claims have been recalled and many men who hav been laboring on th farms all summer will probably be chosen in this call.

EMPEROR KARL'S CHILDREN ARE MISSING

BRIEF SESSION OF BOROUGH COUNCIL

The borough council held a brief session in the council chamber last evening. President Pletcher was in the chair and the following members were present: Messrs Gallaher, Leitzinger, Graham, Walthers, Williams, McCloskey and Hopfer. Burgess Chase was also present.

Burgess Chase reported but eight arrests during October and the collection of $50 in fines for the month.

Street Commissioner Graham reported progress on the fall clean up by the street crew and showed that he was getting the streets in good shape for the winter.

Borough Engineer Hess reported regarding the laying of concrete curb and gutter along the Charles T Kurtz property on West Front street and again suggested to council that property owners along all the unpaved streets be induced to do likewise as it would mean a great improvement to the town both in appearance and in a sanitary way.

U. S. G. Way was present and again complained of storm water backing into his cellar on Locust street from the Fourth street sewer and asked council for relief While council is not obliged to provide or care for cellar drainage the matter was again referred to the sewer committee for report at next meeting

Mr Gallaher, of the Finance committee, recommended that $4 000 worth of the 1903 issue of borough improvement bonds be redeemed The recommendation was adopted and bonds ordered redeemed.

There being no further business council adjourned to meet Monday evening, November 18th

It is as far around the coast of America as it is around the world.

EXCELLENT WEATHER BRINGS OUT BIGGER VOTE THAN EXPECTED

The election in Clearfield today was a very quiet one there being an entire absence of pulling and hauling about the polling places.

The weather was ideal and the voters took advantage of that condition to coe out early. At 1:30 o'clock theer was a total of 550 votes polled in the four wards.

The vote was divided as follows:

First ward	143
Second ward	156
Third ward	126
Fourth ward	125

The principal contest was on Congress of course with the Repeublicans lining up straight behind Evan J. Jones, their party candidate, despite the appeal of the President for assistance in making this country safe for the Democratic party.

The Democrats were cutting their ticket pretty generally on Governor, the dry element refusing to stand for Bonnawell and Booze.

The fine weather is having its effect in the country districts many of which report a much heavier vote than was at first expected although the absence of so many men in the war will cut the total away below normal The influenza epidemic is also interfering with the turning out in some of the districts.

Our readers may confidently expect to hear of the election of the entire county nita district tickets in Wednesday evening's Progress Watch for it.

WE SHOULD STILL DO OUR UTMOST TO GUARD AGAINST INFLUENZA

"The following precedures should be forced upon everybody in the country; but especially the mothers of children. They are vital at this time."

So writes Dr. S. McC. Hamill, Chief of Child Hygiene Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., to the Child Welfare Committee of Clearfield County. Attention to them may save lives in Clearfield County homes:

1. There must be an abundance of fresh air entering their homes at all times, and that to protect against the lower temperature so that this will not chill them. Woolen stocking must be worn by the children if necessary, coats and hats.

2. Everybody should spend as much time as possible in the open air in the sunlight, especially children, who can do this most of the day.

3. All crowds, especially indoor crowds should be avoided.

4. All people who cough or sneeze should be avoided.

5. If members of the household develop colds, they should be separated at once from the other members of the family and kept from them until their colds are entirely cured.

6. Every member of the family should have his own drinking cup and every member his own towel.

7. All children should be dressed according to the temperature of the day, not according to the season of the year.

8. All persons, especially children, should avoid being completely tired out from overplay or too little sleep; it reduces their resistance.

9. All persons should sleep with the windows wide open; fresh air is as important by night as by day.

10. Everyone should cover the mouth and nose when sneezing or coughing. This is most important because the germs are coughed out into the air and in that way get to the other members of the family.

11. Children with the slightest evidence of cold should not be permitted to go to school or to play with others.

12. The moment anyone becomes sick or has the slightest evidence of a cold, it should be remembered that possibly a very serious disease is beginning and the patient must be immediately put to bed and a physician summoned as soon as possible.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY BOY IS AWARDED CROIX DE GUERRE

Sergeant Ernest Youngberg, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Youngberg, of Grassflat, is home on several days' furlough. Mr. Youngberg was drafted into the service in June and sent to Camp Lee, Va. After a training of six weeks he was transferred to the Quarter Master's Corps, on board a transport with the rank of Sergeant. He has made several overseas trips, and on the 5th of Oct. he was awarded the French War Cross, the Croix de Guerre, by General La Comte. This medal was awarded for signal gallantry shown by him when he, together with eleven others, volunteered to advance ammunition and supplies to the front trenches by daylight, under heavy fire. Ammunition is usually sent forward under cover of darkness. During the advance he was wounded in the shoulder by bursting shrapnel. His wound was attended to immediately at the dressing station, and although it is yet very painful, is rapidly healing. Sgt. Youngberg has many interesting stories to relate about his experiences. During his return trip home, the transport was followed by a submarine for two days.

In 1712 the inundation of Petrograd as the result of an overflow of the Neva was so severe that Peter the Great nearly lost his life. Thousands of people died in the course of it and the whole city was nearly destroyed.

FLU SITUATION IS IMPROVING NOW

There was not much new development in the local influenza situation yesterday and it begins to look now as though the disease had about run its course in Clearfield, although it is unreasonable to suppose there will not be an occasional new case from time to time. This morning at 10 o'clock there were 39 cases at the upper emergency hospital and 23 at the High school.

There are ten pneumonia patients at the upper hospital and about twenty others about the town, at the High school and private homes.

There were no deaths during the past twenty-four hours.

There was but one death at DuBois yesterday.

O'SHANTER BOY KILLED IN ACTION

John Black, of O'Shanter, received a telegram from the war department which conveyed the sad intelligence that his son Sergeant Robert T. Black had been killed in action on September 26th last.

The Hague, Nov. 5—Count Karolyi has resigned the presidence yof the Hungarian National council according to information received here today. Joan Hoch will succeed Karolyi.

MICE THE TURNING FACTOR IN LIFE OF OLD TIME CURWENSVILLE DOCTOR

H. B. Thompson who has lived in Curwensville a little longer than 77 years, tells the writer of a rather funny incident that occurred when he was a little chap running bare footed and waering the then regulation nankeen trousers. The transaction made such an impression on his young mind and the way it came about, that he never has forgotten it. At that time there was an old physician practising medicine in Curwensville by the name of Iddings. While he was considered to be an excellent practitioner in those early days, when most medicines were home stilled from weeds, herbs, roots, etc., gathered in the woods in the fall, excepting calomel, rheubarb and a few others, the old doctor was a man of remarkable characteristics, one of the most prominent being his unbelief in a Supreme Being and alleging that the Bible was nothing more than a story book. The doctor was well known to the setters for miles around, as was also the views he held on religious matters. He occupied a little building which stood on ground now occupied by T. & R. K. Way as a store. He had a few cronies who held to the same views as himself, who gatherd in the apothecary during winter evenings to argue and dispute over the theories as they understood them. The doctor had an assistant who was "learning the doctor's trade" as he proudly declared. When the doctor was summoned out at night he invariably took his apprentice along as a sort of a body guard.

One of Idding's greatest hobbies on Bible readings was that he alleged that when death overtook a human being that was the end, the spirit did not go to heaven or hell, but the body could just as well be disposed of same as an animal for that was the end. Neither did he believe that there was ever anything like a ghost. Now then, among other bones, etc., possessed by Dr. Iddings, was a human skull, which usually was kept on the top shelf. One night the doctor and his help was called out to see a patient about midnight. Arriving at the home of the ill one, the doctor discovered that he had forgotten something that was necessary for the relief of the one who was ill. Giving the young fellow the necessary directions as to what was wanted and where to find it in the office, the old doctor settled himself back comfortably in an easy chair, took his pipe out of his pocket lit it and started in to argue some of his pet theories with the lady of the house, who was a devout church member. The student came down to the apothecary unlocked the door, struck a match and lit a candle (there being no such a thing as a lamp or other convenient artificial light at that time) and proceeded to look around for the articles wanted. His glance chanced to rest on the shelf upon which the human skull had been placed. Was it moving, or was it his imagination. He made a closer inspection and saw the thing actually wriggling about. That was enough for him and letting out a yell and not stopping to snuff his light or lock the door after him, he hotfooted it back to the home where his tutor awaited him in not the best of humor. The young man had lost his hat, his hair was standing cross-wise and his countenance the hue of the dead. He could not articulate plainly for some minutes and when he was able to say anything his first words were "ghosts in the store." Finally he was able to tell what he had seen, and possibly considerable more from his imagine.

The old doctor was mad all the way through and his anger was akin to a bull when one shakes a red rag before it. He stamped his foot and called his student a d——n unmitigated phool (that's the way they spell the world those days), and demanded that he go back right away and bring the medicine. The student absolutely refused to do so unless the doctor went along. After considerable loud talk and much profanity on the part of the physician, he consented to return with his student and "throw the ghost out of the shop into the gutter."

Back they went and upon arriving found the door open and the candle still burning just as the young man had left it, when he suddenly made up his mind that "a living coward was of more use in the world than a dead hero." The young chap was not going to put his life in jeopardy the second time, hence stood outside the door. The doctor entered the room, not too briskly however, and demanded in a loud voice to be shown his ghostship, and for it to come forth and be slain. The medical student never uttered a word but silently pointed his finger upward and toward the skull The old practioneer, who had seen many queer things in his day, turned his eyes in the direction of the pointing hand. He saw just what his man saw on hour before—the skull and it was moving backward and forward, making but very little noise. He looked at it once, twice and thrice and that was enough for him. He hastily snuffed the candle and locking the store door the twain returned to the sick chamber and never did they leave there until the next morning.

The news spread rapidly that Doc Iddings apothecary was haunted and that he and his student had seen his ghostship entertaining itself on one of the top shelves by dancing and performing other antics after midnight the night before. The doctor was non-committal when asked about the affair, but not so with his student, for every time he repeated what he saw he enlarged upon the story, until for several days half the town's populace actually believed that the store was inhabited by goblins and some that had risen from the dead and had returned to earth to haunt the old physician for his blasphemy and unbelief in the Holy writ. Thus matters ran along for a week or more and the doctor's followers had dwindled down to a party of two or three of the bravest. Another thing about the store was quite noticeable, and that was that the old physician and his student companion never opened the apothecary after candle-light "not because they were afraid to stay in the building, but business did not warrant the expense of burning candles."

Finally an old, long-haired hunky mountaineer wandered into the store and wanted to purchase a quart of "snake medicine" as the grinders in his barrel were broken and he could not make any of his own until it was fixed. There were quite a few men, including Dr. Iddings, in the store at the time and while he was making up the "snake juice" for his customer whom he knew quite well, he regaled the old timer with an account of seeing the ghost and the haunted store. The old chap listened attentively until the clerk had finished his narrative, remarked: "I hev lived in these ere mountains nigh to fifty year, and I'll be dinged if I ever saw a ghost yit, and I've traveled these hills some too." The clerk showed him the skull and all about the way it acted and added that was where the spirit came out when it made its appearance. The old chap scrutinized the skull carefully an asked if he might take it down and see "the tarnal habitation of that ar ghost." He was given the desired permission. He walked over behind the counter and lifted it up, when behold more than a dozen mice ran out of it and departed for a new hiding place.

The mystery of the ghost and the haunted apothecary was solved. Mice had chosen the skull for a nest and the mouse family had become so large that there was not room for all, and in fussing for bed room space the animals with their fussing caused the skull, which was very light, to move about and that is what old Dr. Iddings and his apprentice saw on the first night his ghostship made his appearance.

This ghost incident changed the whole course of the old doctor's life. His language toned down considerably, his conversation lost its gruffness, he never used profane language thereafter, and he never argued or profaned the scriptures and finally got to be a regular church attendant and lived the balance of his life in this comunity, respected by all. Thus it will be seen that even the smallest and most detestable animals are brought into this world to perform some some good mission or other.

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS

"The Paper That Goes Home and Stays"

CLEARFIELD, PA., November 5, 1918

To Our Patrons,

Clearfield and Vicinity.

Gentlemen:

Owing to the labor shortage we found it necessary to entirely discontinue our line of job printing some three months ago and since that time have refused practically all business because of our inability to produce good work and on required time.

We now have our job printing department organized and ask that we be favored with your orders.

We are prepared to take on all kinds of printing except ruled work of considerable size. In the interest of paper conservation we will permit no job bills or placards larger than 14 inches by 14 inches.

A good stock of that old reliable Hammermill Bond for letter heads has just been received.

TWO DEATHS IN POOLE FAMILY

Isaac Poole received a telegram this morning announcing the sad fact that his daughter Alice had died at the home of her sister Mrs. Daniel Whatmouth in Akron, Ohio, at 11:30 o'clock last night of pneumonia following an attack of influenza.

The deceased was a sister of James Poole, who died at 5 o'clock yesterday morning at his home on Mill Road as the result of an attack of influenza.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Through the kindness of the Loyal Order of Moose in tendering a part of their building as an emergency hospital, the board of health has accepted the same and a large room is being fitted up for that purpose. Beds have been contributed and necessary covering to equip them This is not done because there is an increase of the epidemic in Curwensville, but to take care of those who are unable to take charge of themselves and cannot procure the necessary help. The hospital has been placed in charge of Miss Young, a professional nurse, and she will be assisted in the work by others who have had considerable experience in the nursing line. All the physicians will take part in ministration of all those who will occupy beds in this emergency hospital and no distinction will be shown to any particular cases, only so far as the illness of the patient demands. Curwensville took care of this epidemic in time and thirty cases is the most the town has had at any one time. No deaths have occurred from the disease and from a report of a physician at the writer's home yesterday afternoon the disease seems to be abating, and as he was a member of the board of halth no new cases had been reported to him for several days. Curwensville people are certainly in sympathy with sister towns who are struggling desperately to stamp out the ravages of the disease and may their efforts be successful.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. John Murray on Ridge avenue is quite ill at his home suffering from an attack of the influenza.

A resolution has been passed by the Business Men's association to close all stores at 6 o'clock, Saturday evening included, until after the abatement of the epidemic passing through this county.

A plan for the proper observance of the Sabbath day and keeping in touch with the Sunday school lessons, each Christian family will be asked to hold home services for an hour or two in their omes,h the time to be given to Bible study and review of the school lesson. The plan is a good one and each Christian family should adopt it at once and carry it out to the fullest extent.

Miss Lottie Bixler was confined to her home by illness several days this week.

Dean Rankin, of Purchase Line, drove in to Clearfield Monday bringing with him a young boy to the hospital where he will undergo an operation. A few weeks ago he brought in a young lady who was operated on and he expected to take her back with him, but she had not recovered sufficiently to make the trip. He reported that the flu had invaded that country quite severely and a great many deaths had occurred.

Domero Tatima is ill at his home suffering from fever and the influenza but his case at the present time is not considered dangerous, any more so than the rest of those suffering from the same complaint.

It was reported yesterday that the P. H. & L. finishing tannery had received a sufficient number of orders to keep the plant operating with nearly a full crew from now until spring If correct the news is certainly cheering the almost two hundred men employed there.

Today is election day. Those who claim to be on the inside say that the entire Republican ticket will win out in this borough as well as in the western precinct of Pike township. As regards the $12,000 bond issue, with which to purchase new fire apparatus there seems to be considerable doubt as to its being carried through successfully. A number of taxpayers seem to be of the opinion that so large amount of money for fire apparatus is not necessary at this time, and think that the present time was not opportune in presenting it before the people at this time. Some new fire fighting apparatus is badly needed there is no dispute and the claim is put forth that what is actually needed could be purchased for a considerable less sum than $12,000. Be that as it may it is up to the voters today to decide. We being neutral on the question of the bond issue, will be satisfied which way it is decided.

Ashley Bloom has been promoted to the superintendency of the Lumber City brick works since Charles Maurey receased. At the present time Mr. Bloom is a resident of Curwensville but will probably move to Lumber City later on.

Mrs. Arthur E. Temple of this place has received word that her husband has arrived safely overseas. Mr. Temple belongs to Uncle Sam's marines and is serving his second enlistment.

Miss Mary Wright of this place has returned to her duties at the Maple avenue hospital in DuBois after a few day's visit with her parents.

Rev. Connely is assisting Fred Robison with a rush of job printing

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harley, of Pine street, are adding to the convenience of their home by having a telephone put in.

The emergency hospital was opened yesterday afternoon. Five persons from the flat, who were inflicted more seriously with the influenza, were removed thereto, where they will be able to receive better attention than they have been receiving. All the persons moved were of foreign population.

Herbert Shearer, formerly employed at the brick plant, has gone to Eddystone, Pa., where he has secured employment in one of the munition plants located at that place.

Isaac Black, who has been home for a week from his Houtzdale drilling operations returneed yesterday to resume work on his drilling contracts.

Dr. G. G. Jenkins had charge of the emergency hospital yesterday.

Richard Addin who was brought to the home of his father in law some weeks ago suffering from something akin to paralysis, and who was in a very serious condition, is reported as gaining in health and strength slowly and some hope is now entertained by his relatives that he may eventually recover sufficiently to be able to walk about soon.

Dr. G. C. Jenkins with an assistant, inoculated 250 persons at the Leib dispensary, most of those receiving the serum for the third time. Strange as it may seem, not a single person in this town who was inoculated has been afflicted with the disease, proving undoubtedly that there must be some virtue in the remedy.

There is a greater demand for The Progress in this town than ever before Those who are not subscribers either borrow from their neighbor or buy from the street boy. No wonder. The paper not only gives authentic late war news, but keeps its readers in close touch with county conditions of the devastating epidemic, Spanish influenza. Not only are some persons so anxious to read the war news they do not wait for neighbor John to read his paper first, but walk boldly onto his porch, take the paper home, read it through and then return it from when he got it. The Progress is not so high in price, but what it is within easy reach of all who are interested in the present progress of the war, and other interesting news items the paper contains daily gathered at considerable expense from all over the county as well as court house news.

ANOTHER HEROIC NURSE SUCCUMBS

A message received here from Altoona brought the sad news that Mrs. Elizabeth Rose, of Houtzdale, well known in Clearfield, died in that city at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon of pneumonia following an attack of influenza.

Deceased, aged about 28 years was one of the class who was graduated in nures training on November 22, 1917, from the Cottage State hospital, Philipburg, and at the opening of the emergency hospital in Clearfield, along with Mrs. R. K. Clees, who died October 29th gladly gave her services to aid in caring for the sick.

Mrs. Rose was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker, of Houtzdale, and following the death of her husband took up nursing as her life work. Of a gentle, sympathetic disposition she made the ideal nurse and won the hearts of all with whom she came in contact while ministering to the sick and afflicted.

When the influenza epidemic broke out in Clearfield and the local board of health decided to open an emergency hospital in the Children's Home, Mrs. Rose volunteered her services and was the first assistant given Mrs. R. K. Clees when the big institution was opened. Like her martyred friend and co-worker, Mrs. Rose gave every ounce of her energy to the alleviation of the suffering at hand and through overwork easily became prey for the disease.

In the midst of her labors and just when the disease she had been fighting for others began to fasten itself upon her system she received the word that her child was sick and needed her care at its home in Altoona. She hurried to the bedside of the little one on Sunday, October 27, and on Monday was so ill that she was put to bed.

The disease ran its usua course, the overworked body could not withstand its ravages and the end came Saturday afternoon last when her heroic soul left its earthly prison to appear before the Great Physician to receive the reward for one who gave her all in His name and that other sufferers might get well.

The remains were taken to the home of her parents in Houtzdale and will be interned from there.

Cape May, where many American soldiers from the front are being sent to recuperate, is the oldest resort along the New Jersey coast. Passing from a prosperous whaling village, founded in 1699, it became a fishing village during the 18th century, and then the greatest resort in America during the middle of the 19th century.

OBITUARY

WM. E. JOHNSON

William E. Johnson, a former Philipsburg boy, died at his home in Lima, Ohiofi October 12, from pneumonia, following a week's sickness of Spanish influenza. He was born and raised in Centre county, having spent his boyhood days in Philipsburg. The Lima Star says of him:

"W. E. Johnson, prominent real estate man, and enthusiastic worker in every civic or patriotic endeavor of the city, died at his home, 449 Albert street, as the result of an attack of Spanish influenza.

"Mr. Johnston was connected with the Elmar D. Webb Company, and was head of the central office where he had charge of some of the heaviest deal until recently, when he was put at the head of an insurance organizing department, and in which capacity he was making a wonderful record. He was also secretary-treasurer of the Lima Investment Co., an organization of South Side business men, who have dealt extensively the past year in buying, repairing and building residence property in South Lima.

"He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Colubus and the Elks.

"He is survived by his wife, Violet Beacon Johnston, one son Clair, and one dauhgter, Lenore. Also his father John C. Johnston of Grampian, Pa., five brothers, John P., of Clearfield; Patrick H, of Grampian, and three in the service of their country—Joseph who is in France, James at Camp Jackson, S. C., and George, at Camp Syracuse, N. Y. Also four sisters, Mrs. Fred George, Lima, Ohio: Mrs. James McDermott and Mrs. George Shields Curwensville, Pa., and Mrs. Cal Newcomer, Latrobe, Pa."

CHAUNCEY MARAN NORRIS

Chauncey Maran Norris, son of Wade A. and Clara (Tobias) Norris, died at his home near New Millport on November 1st, 1918. He was born December 27, 1896.

Chauncey spent his entire life in and around the New Millport vicinity. He taught one term of school at Mt. Sinai, Girard township, and was certificated to teach the next year, 1917-18 but on being able to do better financially in the coal business, he did not teach again.

He was inducted into service from the jurisdiction of Houtzdale, District No. 3, on the 5th of September 1918, and was discharged from Camp Greenleaf, Ga., September 17, 1918, on account of defective vision. After being at home a few weeks he was employed at Boardman, from which place he was brought home sick with Spanish influenza, October 22nd, which subsequently developed pneumonia and death resulted. His remains were laid away in the New Millport cemetery on Sunday, the 4th of November, 1918, Rev. Harry Jarrett, a personal friend of his, conducting the last rites. One brother, Clair, who is now in France survives with three sisters, Marie, teacher of the Glenn school, Erma and Delta. Marie and Delta are at this writing confined to their home with the dreaded "flu".

The funeral was strictly private. An opportunity was given at the grave for the many friends to view the remains. A great burden rests upon the home, and many there are who would gladly assist in nursing, if it were not for carrying the germs into their own home. Mr. Norris, his wife and daughter Erma are much worn, but advise everybody to stay away and that they will do all they can, and feel they can handle the situation, unless the disease catches them. All have been innoculated and it is hoped and prayed that health will soon be restored to their home. Everybody extnds sympathy to the father, mother, sisters and Clair, in France, in these hours of death and sickness.

Mrs. S. C. Cowdrick, who has been ill at the home of her son, Al, on Second street, is improving.

Yes, saw it in The Progress.

GLEANINGS FROM SOLDIER'S LETTERS

Cloyd W. Hadden in a letter to his mother in Curwensville, written from a base hospital in France, says that he is recovering nicely from wounds received in action.

He is in base hospital No.43 and had the peasure of receiving care and treatment from two Clearfield nurses whom he knew at home. One of the nurses was Miss Ella Brown, daughter of Lewis Brown, of the Third Ward. The other he describes as having visited the Watts' at Curwensville.

He has been an inmate of the hospital since September 27th but says he only has a small flesh wound on his left arm and small one on his right wrist. A bullet also passed through his tin hat but fortunately missed his head, although, as he says, it was a little too close for comfort.

The Heinie's won't stand for the Yanks to get near them and we have great fun making them run. Sometimes they go so fast we can hardly keep up, and then our mess can't keep up to us. Once we didn't see the chow outfit for more than three days. We didn't let a little thing like that bother us and ust devoted our extra time to chasing the hun all the harder.

The worst stuff I have tackled over here was some dutch bread that they had left behind in a town we took. It was hard as a brick and looked just like a brick, only it was black and looked as though made out of charcoal instead of flour.

We took dugouts containing kitchens with sauer kraut, coffee, etc., but the stuff didn't taste right to me. They leave many funny things behind. I have some German money and did have some other junk for souvenirs but lost it.

He says he hopes to be home for Christmas dinner and asks that turkey be provided for same.

He pays a fine tribute to the Red Cross for the way they treat the boys and minds up by saying he is enjoying life to the limit now after six months at the front over there.

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL GETS FIFTEEN YEARS

MOLLIE STIMER

Federal Judge Henry D. Clayton, who hails from Eufaula, Ala., sentenced this Russian eighteen-year-old girl, Mollie Stimer, to fifteen years in prison on charge of being a Bolshevik, an anarchist and a general radical acting in violation of the Espionage Act, after her trial in New York City.

A RAW, SORE THROAT

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole.

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just rub it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for sore throat, bronchitis, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, croup, congestion, pleurisy, lumbago, pains and aches of the joints, sprains, sore muscles, frosted feet, colds on the chest (it prevents pneumonia). Use Musterole for croupy children. Always keep it handy for instant use. Three sizes, Hospital size $2.50.

UNCLE SAM STILL NEEDS NURSES

An erroneous impression has gone out that no more nurses are needed in military hospitals. It must be corrected or Uncle Sam's military forces will suffer.

The Pennsylvania council of national defence has been authorized to state that more than 10,000 additional nurses will be needed for the army nurse corps within the next two months. Not only that, but 25,000 will be needed by June 1, 1919, regardless of the military situation abroad. Nurses are needed for our tremendous armies to take care of the sickness and casualties that are inseparable from military service on a large scale, whether there is active fighting or not.

The various agencies which are encouraging the recruiting of women for nursing are urged by the government not to relax their efforts.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN PITTSBURGH

William B. Kelley, son of the late James H. Kelley, Esq., died at his home on Squirrel Hill, Pittsburgh, this morning at 5 o'clock of pneumonia following an attack of influenza. He was taken sick on Wednesday of last week.

He was 41 years of age and is survived by his wife, nee Aggie Shaw, and a son and daughter.

Funeral notice and proper obituary tomorrow.

The word "Bey" affixed to a Turkish surname signifies that the wearer is distinguished in the service of the State.

WORSE THAN GAS

Kidney disease is no respector of persons. It attacks young and old alike. In most cases, the victim is warned of the approaching danger, Nature fights back. Headache, indigestion, backache, rheumatic aches back, backache, sciatica, rheumatic pains in the joints and lower abdomen, dizziness, difficulty in urinating all are indications of trouble with the kidneys.

When such symptoms appear you will always certainly find quick relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules.

This famous old remedy has stood the test for two hundred years in helping mankind to overcome disease. It is imported direct from the world's laboratories in Holland and may be had at all good drug stores. Your money promptly refunded if it does not relieve you. Be sure to get the genuine GOLD MEDAL Brand. In sealed packages three sizes.

Looking Ahead to Christmas, Women Are Buying Handkerchiefs Liberally

It is nothing unusual to hear a woman at our handkerchief counter say that the gift she is going to give to practically everyone on her list is HANDKERCHIEFS. She says she does want to give a slight remembrance to her family and friends; yet it is war-times and the cost must be watched carefully. And handkerchiefs in her opinion "fit the bill" best.

Priced from 5c to 75c each.

Slipover Sweaters $6.50

A remarkably effective model, has deep purling, comes slightly below the waistline. Has close sleeves and a very pretty collar and pompom. Such a sweater solves the problem of what to wear when out for a short walk evenings.
